Crewfit XD Quick Release Belt

The XD Quick Release Belt is a personal safety system aimed for professional use by emergency service teams during bank side flood rescue. Designed to provide a quick release attachment point, this system facilitates the use of an O-ring and subsequent cowtail into one simple configuration. This personal safety system is to be used in conjunction with any Crewsaver Crewfit XD lifejacket and can be purchased as standard with the lifejacket (order code SUPFITQRBELT) or fitted retrospectively (order code 10004)

By facilitating the integration of the XD Quick Release Belt into the XD lifejacket, it provides rescue teams with the choice to opt for an inflatable lifejacket as their personal flotation device of choice.

Partnered with a pull toggle, the quick release buckle is located front and centre of the lifejacket. This buckle can be easily released with one hand to quickly free the user of the attached cowtail in an emergency.
